

Manifesto of the FAIMA team

“When you are gathering together one day for a great deeds, do not forget about those who need small, ”- with such words we would like to begin our manifesto.

The focus should be put on what usually remains unnoticed or considered unimportant. However, when you seeing it up close, you understand, what is important in our life. Sometimes we forget to take good care of our health because of business or other occupations. We forget about relatives who need our care and attention just at the time, thinking that now we need to work harder to make them happier in the future.

It is not like that. The truth of our life is that it exists only here and now, since the one who lives in the past will not come back and must remain there, and nobody, except God, knows who lives in future.

Working on creation of artificial intelligence of FAIMA we first intended to introduce essential value to the world community, something that could be useful for everybody.

Using every day the FAIMA application people will be able to obtain in time information about their health problems, so they will be able to take timely measures. People will take care about their health in time and continue their long and happy life together with the family and relatives. FAIMA will be trained not only in hi-tech medical approaches of modern sciences, but also will gather all wisdom, which is saved up by our ancestors, that sometimes were even cleverer than we are. Will be loaded into the application recognized by the world community such practices as Ayurveda, Chinese medicine, Islamic medicine and knowledge in the field of herbal medicine. The application will be able to determine with precision, the cause of a disease, and also to analyze a psychological and mental state of a person, that will allow to reveal the appearance of any violation caused by a stress and external factors. It should be noted, that besides the main AI, FAIMA would be written in more than 30 AI, this additional programs would include knowledge from different areas.

With these application it will be possible to communicate with artificial intelligence like with a real person, you friend or mate. However, unlike real person, that AI precisely knows the whole information interesting for you, which is available and precisely knows in what proportions to give you this information since it will analyze at the same time your psychological state, your biorhythm, dislocation, your tastes and moral preferences. It is important to note that the work of the FAIMA team aims to improve the quality of life at all levels.

We seek to develop not only scientific aspect, but also spiritual and moral aspects. For this reason, we promise to spend ten percent of profits to charity every year.

Peaceful life for you and your family! Team of FAIMA developers.
